Traditional side-hinged doors

Garador's traditional side-hinged doors combine robust and reliable performance with simple personal access. For security these doors are fitted with a knob on the outside as standard which means you always require a key to open the door. For convenience the option of an outside lever handle is available.

GARADOR

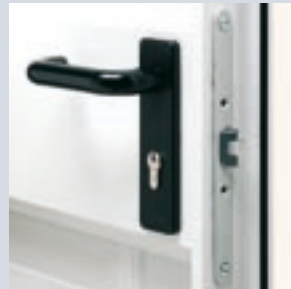

This traditional door set up offers convenience and added privacy over an Up & Over door where full width access is not generally required.

Side-hinged doors

Built onto its own steel frame these doors open out providing clear and unrestricted space within the garage.

High security lock with fixed knob ensuring security every time the door is closed. (Optional external lever handle is available).

Internal handle providing easy operation.

Steel hinges securely fixed to each frame and door leaf ensuring reliable function.

Centre style providing a seal between the leaves and prevents forced entry to the locking system.

Weatherstrips around 3 sides of the door to help prevent draughts.

BS 13241 Compliant
All Garador garage doors comply with the latest European safety standards.
